

Freedom Fighter

by Kevin Austin
Set Free Movement

Annie Schomaker wanted to be a freedom fighter. Having learned about the problem of modern slavery, Annie set her sights on working for International Justice Mission (IJM) someday. She went to school. She got her degree. But in making contact with IJM she was disappointed to hear she couldn't join their team.

Annie and Ginger Coakley

Annie eventually ended up in Greenville, Illinois, a town of 7,000. There she met Ginger Coakley. What could she possibly do in a small town to address the evil of modern slavery? Actually ... quite a bit!

Annie and Ginger are leaders of the Set Free Movement team in Greenville. This team is effectively mobilizing the entire community in the direction of freedom. Recently, God called them to launch a restoration home. Eden's Glory will be a home for women rescued out of sex slavery.

God called Annie to set others free. She followed God into the unknown; God met her and is now giving her the desire of her heart. She's on mission with God.

Greenville will never be the same.
